

Three hand-drawn knot diagrams are shown. The first diagram on the left is a complex knot with multiple crossings and a long, wavy tail. The middle diagram consists of two separate, elongated loops, one of which is crossed over the other. The third diagram on the right is a single, continuous loop with several crossings, resembling a trefoil knot.

