

Zhinous Hourmand Gottstein

I have always appreciated the sociocultural assets, and the attributes of transparency and dynamism in teaching. My genuine curiosity about life in general, colorful teaching background in specific, and cross-cultural experiences I have been making during two immigration phases provide me with an innovative teaching methodology which caters to diverse learning styles and cultures. This, as a result, equips me with the two assets of patience and spontaneity in terms of strategically fitting my lesson plans to learners' immediate needs.
