The image shows a large, light gray rounded rectangle that serves as a container for a form. Inside this container, there are several horizontal bars of varying lengths and colors (light gray and dark gray). Additionally, there is a radio button with a blue center and white ring, positioned to the left of one of the dark gray bars. The overall appearance is that of a placeholder or a partially rendered questionnaire form.

A large, light gray rectangular area representing a redacted or placeholder content for a questionnaire. It contains several faint, gray shapes: three horizontal bars at the top, a rounded horizontal bar in the middle, and four rounded squares arranged in a 2x2 grid at the bottom.
